Key Growth Drivers:

Evolving Consumer Lifestyles

Urban consumers are shifting from instant coffee to single-origin, craft brews.

Rising Disposable Incomes

A growing urban middle class is adopting café visits as an everyday, accessible premium lifestyle staple.

Speciality Coffee Demand

Boutique cafés + chain growth are normalizing craft coffee across cities.

The Need for Third Spaces

Flexible and remote work trends have established cafés as the 'third place'.

Perceived Blue Tokai as old-school and premium

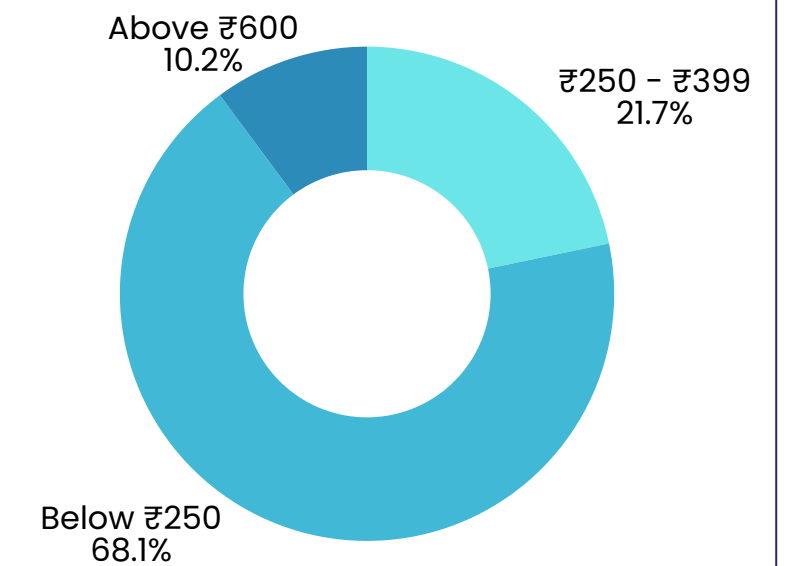

Gen Z cafés = vibe first, coffee second

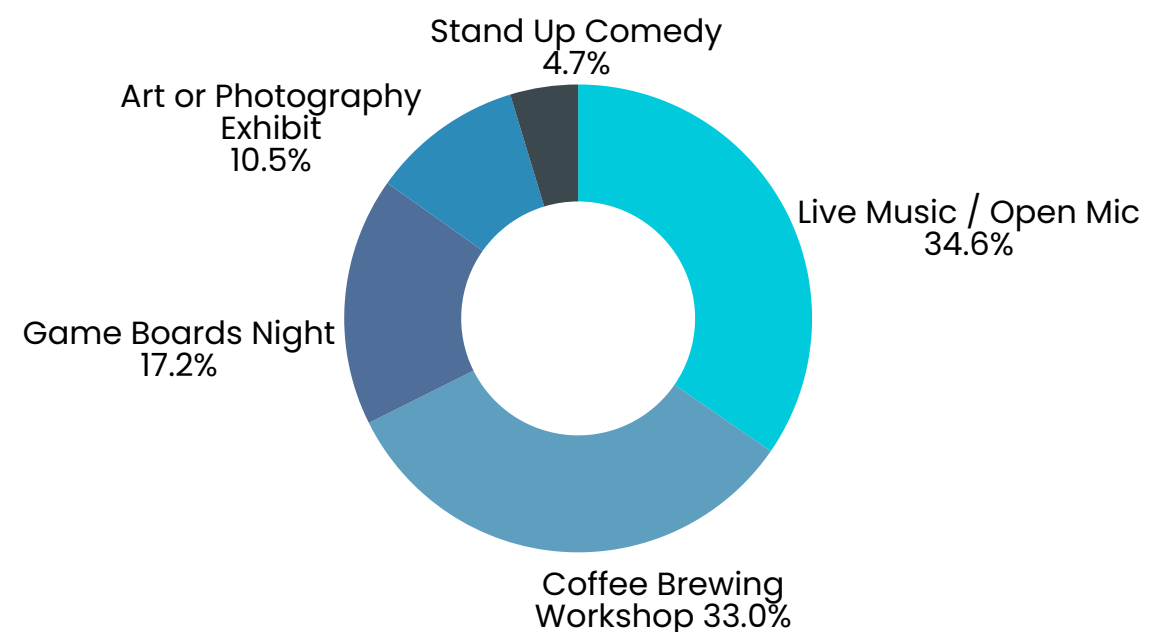

Students want affordable coffee; young professionals pay for experience

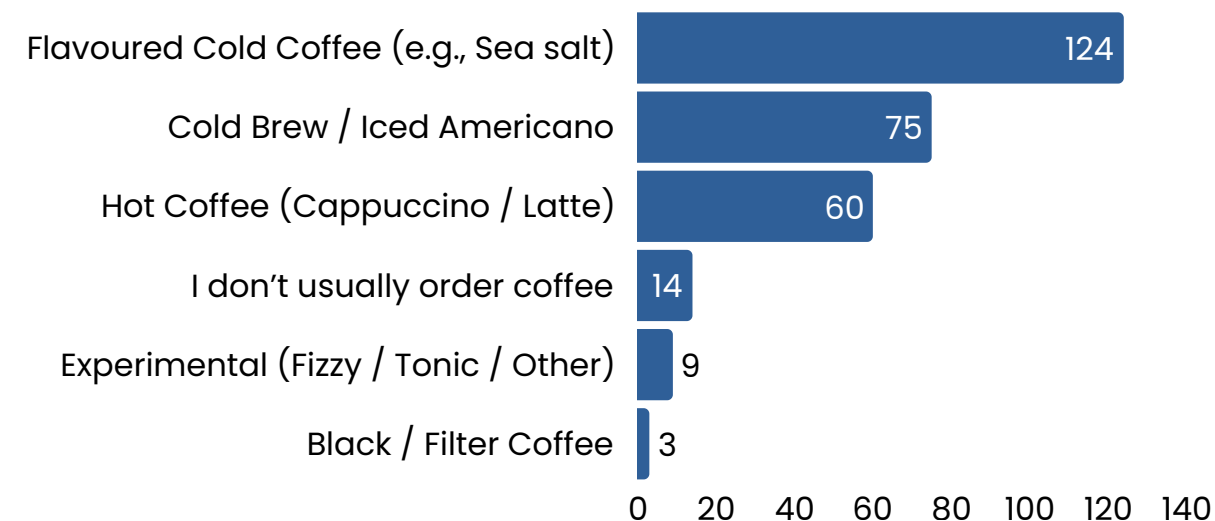

Age - 18 to 21

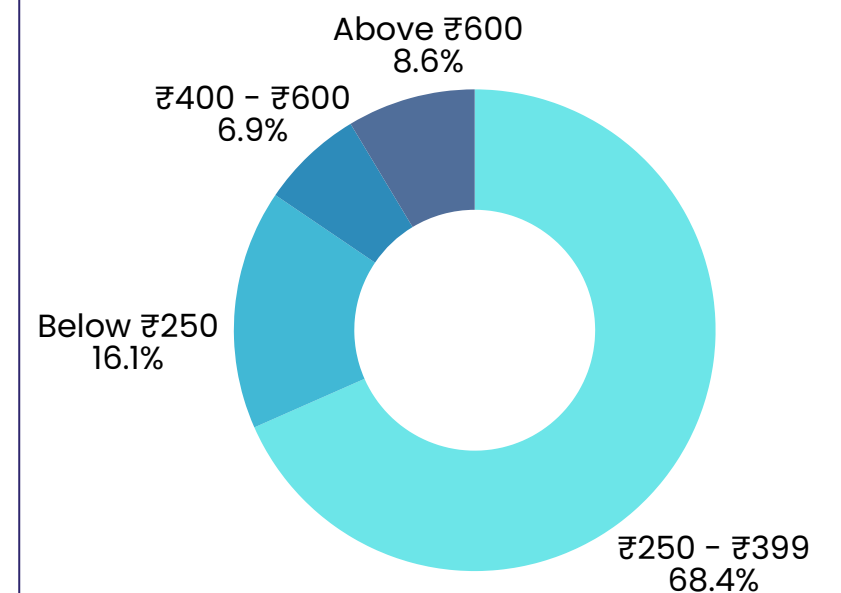

Community experiences make cafés relevant for Gen Z

Gen Z tends to prefer sweeter, colder, more flavour-forward drinks.

Age - Above 21

How does the competitive landscape look like?

Brand Name	Brand Affinity	Digital Pull	GenZ Appeal	Cafe experience	Accessability

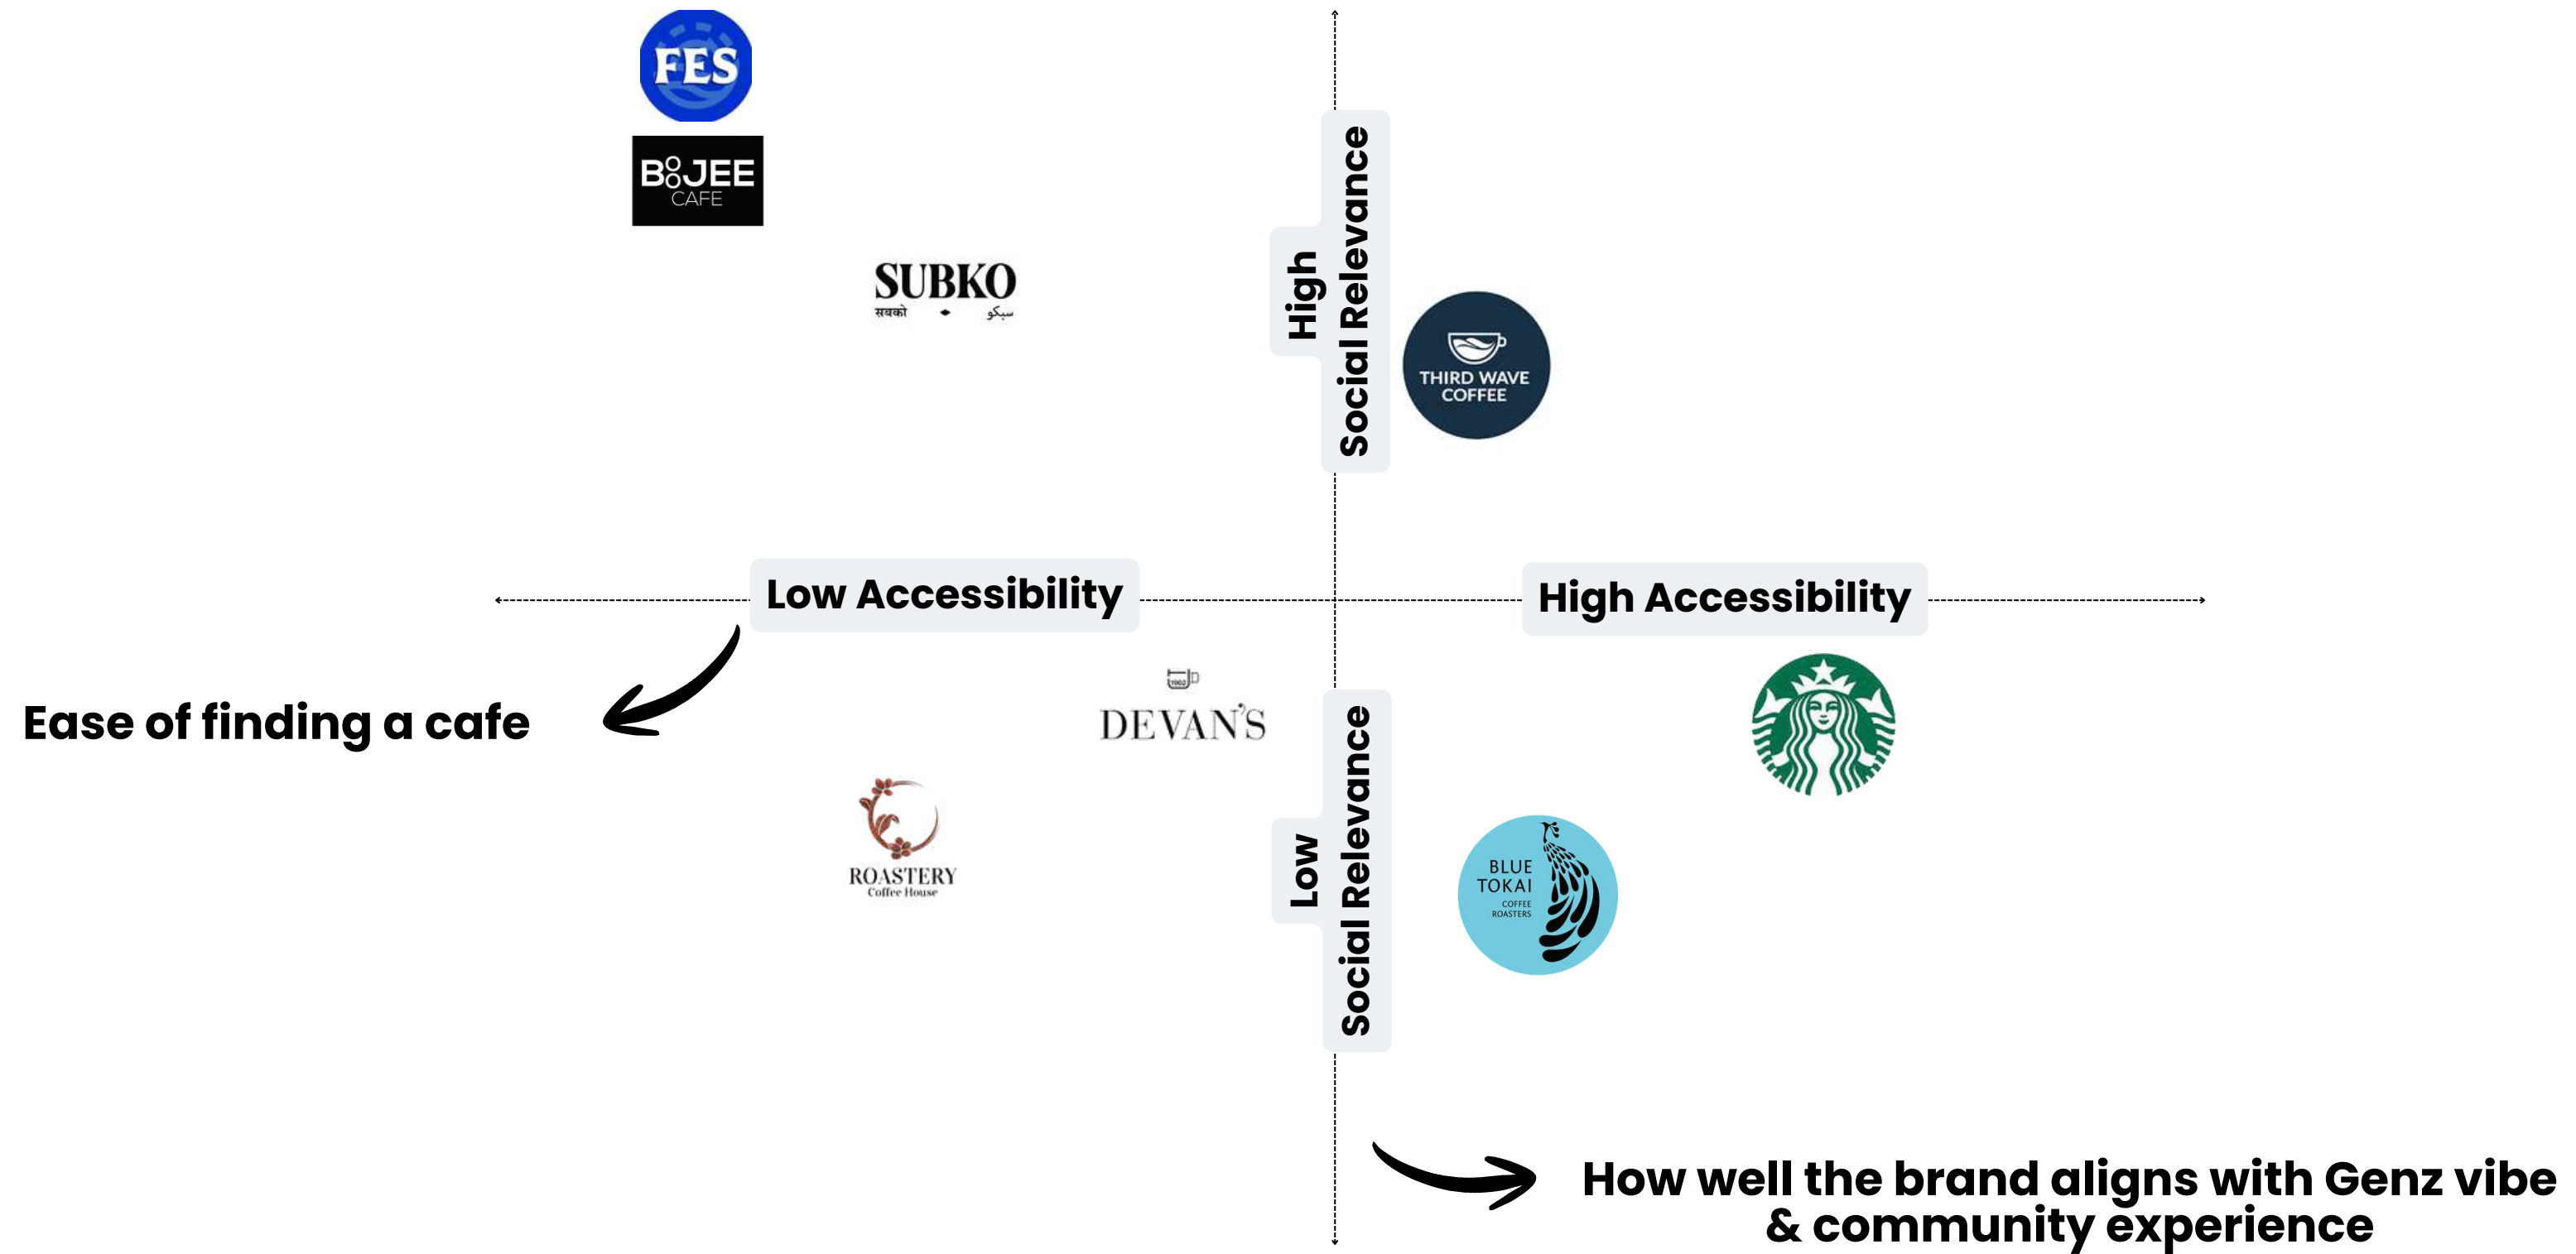

Subko leads in culture and loyalty, Starbucks dominates digital reach and mass Gen Z appeal, Third Wave owns café experience, while Blue Tokai holds strong affinity but needs to build sharper youth relevance and digital pull.

So what does Gen Z really think?

BLUE TOKAI = PREMIUM, SERIOUS, CRAFT-DRIVEN

The opportunity is to shift
Blue Tokai from a craft-first brand to a culture-first *experience

BLUE TOKAI = PREMIUM BREW. SOCIAL YOU.
